

such fund to such extent and in such manner and under such terms and conditions as the Secretary of Labor may by regulation or otherwise prescribe.

Mr. HOPE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to withdraw the committee amendments.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Kansas?

There was no objection.

Mr. HOPE. Mr. Speaker, I offer two amendments, which I send to the Clerk's desk.

The Clerk read as follows:

Amendments offered by Mr. HOPE:

On page 1, line 3, strike out "the Secretary of Labor" and insert "the Administrator of the Federal Security Agency."

On page 2, line 21, strike out "the Secretary of Labor" and insert "the Administrator of the Federal Security Agency."

Mr. FOGARTY. The first amendment was to strike out "the Secretary of Labor" and insert "the Federal Security Administrator"; is that correct?

Mr. HOPE. Yes. That is made necessary by reason of the act that was passed, the appropriation bill, which transferred the Federal Employment Service to the Federal Security Agency.

The SPEAKER. The question is on agreeing to the amendments.

The amendments were agreed to.

The bill was ordered to be read a third time, was read the third time, and passed, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

ISSUING PATENTS IN ALASKA

Mr. D'EWART. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of House Joint Resolution 162, a joint resolution to repeal section 2 of the act of May 1, 1938, and for other purposes.

The Clerk read the title of the resolution.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Montana [Mr. D'EWART]?

Mr. RICH. Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, what does this bill do?

Mr. D'EWART. The bill repeals section 2 of the act of May 1, 1938, having to do with the issuing of certain patents in Alaska. Second, it permits the Secretary of the Interior to issue patents in Alaska to individual tribes, villages, or individuals, with the approval of the Secretary of the Interior.

Mr. RICH. Mr. Speaker, it is now 15 minutes after 8 in the morning. It is almost time to go to church. It seems to me this legislation should be deferred until some other time. I object.

O Thou God of infallible wisdom, we have entered upon days which are fraught with perplexing problems and heavy responsibilities, but also with glorious opportunities and possibilities.

We pray that we may have the interpreting light and the clear and confident leading of Thy spirit in all our deliberations and decisions.

May the ideals and principles of our blessed Lord not only stir our emotions but our wills, and may every lofty God-inspired sentiment be translated into action and achievement.

Grant that it may be the goal of all our aspirations to glorify Thy great and holy name and to build Thy kingdom of peace and good will among men and nations.

Hear us for the sake of the Christ.
Amen.

80TH CONGRESS } HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES { REPORT
1st Session } No. 304

REVISION OF TITLE 18, UNITED STATES CODE

APRIL 24, 1947.—Committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union and ordered to be printed

Mr. ROBSION, from the Committee on the Judiciary, submitted the following

REPORT

[To accompany H. R. 3190]

The Committee on the Judiciary submits the following report in explanation of the accompanying bill entitled "A bill to revise, codify, and enact into positive law, title 18 of the United States Code, entitled 'Crimes and Criminal Procedure.'" The present bill has been substituted for an earlier bill [H. R. 1600] on which hearings were held, and contains changes recommended by the subcommittee.

PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

SCOPE OF REVISION

The starting point in this revision was the Criminal Code of 1909. To that were added those criminal provisions in other titles of the United States Code which could be transferred without injury to the text of such titles, and with due regard to maintaining the framework of the official United States Code prepared for Congress in 1926 by the former Committee on Revision of Laws of the House and enacted by Congress June 30, 1926.

This revision includes all applicable criminal laws in effect April 15, 1947.

Before actual revision was begun a scientific plant was assembled. This included:

1. The complete text of title 18, United States Code, 1940 edition.
2. Criminal provisions from other titles of the code pertinent to this revision.
3. Applicable constructions of the courts.
4. Notes based upon a careful examination of the Code of Federal Regulations and law review articles.
5. Exhaustive historical notes.

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 674

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

July 12, 1946.

Resolved, That a revised edition of the Rules and Manual of the House of Representatives for the Eightieth Congress be printed as a House document, and that one thousand six hundred additional copies shall be printed and bound for the use of the House of Representatives, of which seven hundred copies shall be bound in leather with thumb index and delivered as may be directed by the Parliamentarian of the House for distribution to officers and Members of Congress.

The parliamentary practice of the House of Representatives emanates from four sources: First, the Constitution of the United States; second, from Jefferson's Manual; third, from the rules adopted by the House itself from the beginning of its existence; and, fourth, from the decisions of the Speakers of the House and from decisions of the Chairmen of the Committee of the Whole.

In the early history of the House the membership of that body frequently found it difficult to accomplish the purposes upon which they had determined. The Constitution directed the House to do certain things in a specified manner, and to do things not set forth specifically it gave the House carte blanche to make such rules as it thought necessary to carry out the purposes of a legislative body. The early Congresses, therefore, naturally borrowed from the English Parliament many of its practices. In the years following, these practices were adapted to meet the needs of our then youthful House. Special needs of the House have caused some of the motions adopted from the English system to lose their original form and purpose. They have evolved into a distinctly American system of procedure.

In the years from 1797 to 1801 Thomas Jefferson, then Vice President of the United States and President of the Senate, prepared the notable work which has come to be known as Jefferson's Manual. This work contributed greatly to the procedure of the House, although it was not until 1837 that the House finally adopted a rule, which is still in existence, permitting the provisions of the Manual "to govern the House in all cases to which they are applicable."

From the beginning of the First Congress the House has formulated rules for its procedure. Some of them have since gone out of existence. More of them have been amplified and broadened to meet the exigencies that have arisen from time to time. To-day they are perhaps the most finely adjusted, scientifically balanced, and highly technical rules of any parliamentary body in the world. Under them a majority may work its will at all times in the face of the most determined and vigorous opposition of a minority.

The rulings of the Speakers of the House and of the Chairmen of the Committee of the Whole are to the rules of the House what the decisions of the courts are to the statutes. It is rare, indeed, for a question to arise that has not been decided at some prior time. All of these decisions have been embodied in the monumental work of the Hon. Asher C. Hinds and the Hon. Clarence Cannon, former Parliamentarians of the House. These rulings, which aggregate more than 11,000 in number, cover practically every situation that may arise.

I believe that I am not making too broad a statement when I say that the parliamentary practice of the House is a system of procedure that ranks second to none. It has proven adequate to meet all the emergencies that have arisen in the past. It will meet the emergencies and problems of the future with the same degree of success.

In this edition of the House Rules and Manual there is included in the manner hereinafter described the text of the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946. The provisions of that act specifically amending Rules X, XI, XII, and XXI have been placed within the standing rule structure. Part 3 of Title I of the act, containing the provisions applicable to both Houses, has been inserted at the end of the standing rules. Titles II through VI of the act, containing the statutory provisions relating to congressional personnel, lobbying regulations, Federal tort claims, bridges, compensation and retirement of Members of Congress have been inserted where "Important Decisions" have heretofore been found. "Important Decisions" have been eliminated in this edition as they are now set out in full in Cannon's Precedents of the House of Representatives.

Rulings of the Speakers and Chairmen of the Committee of the Whole which are of significance have been inserted under the rule which governed the decision of the Chair.

References are to Hinds' and Cannon's Precedents, the Congressional Record, and the United States Reports.

Senate that a quorum consists of a majority of Senators duly chosen and sworn (I, 630; IV, 2891-2894). So the decision of the House now is that after the House is once organized the quorum consists of a majority of those Members chosen, sworn, and living whose membership has not been terminated by resignation or by the action of the House (IV, 2889, 2890). (Speaker Clark, May 9, 1913, Record, p. 1457, 63d Cong., 1st sess.)

For many years the quorum was determined only by noting the num-

But in 1890 Mr. Speaker Reed directed the Clerk to enter on the Journal as part of the record of a yea-and-nay vote names of Members present but not voting, thereby establishing a quorum of record (IV, 2895). This decision, afterwards sustained by the Supreme Court (IV, 2904),
